E421 . C65

E 421 . C65 Copy 1

THE COALITION

DEMOCRACY AND THE ABOLITIONISTS

IN OPPOSITION

TO THE

ADMINISTRATION OF GEN. TAYLOR.

The opposition to Gen. Taylor's Administration is characterized by more violence than matized at home as betrayers of freedom, and the any other has encountered, perhaps, since the Whigs of the South proclaimed at league with between the Democracy and the Abolitionists, a are as follows: coalition on which the former base all their hopes of Maine, passed August 3, 1847.

of restoration to power, and the latter all their "Resolved, That the sentiment of this State progress of the new coalition, to recur to past Mexico." events, with which it is in some degree connected. The question of slavery, much to the regret of all who discountenance sectional jealous. ies and agitations, entered largely into the pub- Congress from this State be respectfully requestles and agitations, entered targety into the public discussions of the last Presidential canvass.

And it will not be denied, we presume, that tinction of slavery in the District of Columbia, while the Northern Democracy were lavish in for its exclusion from Oregon and ther Territheir denunciations of "Zachary Taylon, the Southern slaveholder," their political brethren of the South hurled anathema after anathema against the South hurled anathema after Abalian and the suppression of the documents of the suppression of the documents.

any other has encountered, pernaps, since the wings of the South proclaimed at league with formation of political parties in the country. It fanatics and incendiaries against their own firewas expected, that those who enjoyed twenty years almost of unbroken power would exhibit racy, too, under the lead of the Washington years almost of unbroken power would exhibit both sullenness and spleen when driven off from Union, singing all the while hosannas to the feasting and rioting amid the spoils of office. - Northern Democrats as "the natural allies of This, we say, was expected; but there was the South," made every shift and adopted every reason to believe also, that men so extravagant expedient to show that Northern Whigs and in professions of Democracy, would; for the Northern Abolitionists were identical and indisake of decency at least, submit to the will of visible. Whether these things were spoken in the People, and conduct their partisan warfare jest or earnest, or whether they were shallow with due respect to candor and fairness. Rea-tricks of the adroit and skilful in the arts of posonable as it was, the hope is disappointed; and litical jugglery, is a matter of little consequence. now all the odds and ends of faction are banded In time they will be properly estimated; it is suftogether for a common purpose—the destruction ficient now to know, that they were anything of the Administration. A coalition has been but truthful. Long before they were uttered the of the Administration. A coalition has been but truthful. Long before they were uttered the friends of good government to the support of a National Party, it is our intention to expose. This coalition, influenced, we are bound to believe, by no motive but to secure and dispense patronage, is the more despicable because of the rancorous enmity which so recently existed be tween its prominent supporters. It is a Coalition minion may be said to be almost despotic. They prospects of becoming the dominant party. - is profound, sincere, and almost universal, that Against this coalition, powerful in numbers, the influence of slavery upon productive energy base in its conception, and corrupt in principle, is like the blight of mildew; that it is a moral stands opposed a National Party, at the head of which is Zachary Taylor, with "no private purposes to accomplish, no party projects to build up, no enemies to punish—nothing to serve but his country."

In Intended of slavery upon productive energy is like the blight of mildew; that it is a moral rights of man, as a thinking, reasonable, and purposes to accomplish, no party projects to build up, no enemies to punish—nothing to serve but his country." It may be well, perhaps, before tracing the may be acquired as an indemnity for claims upon

Resolutions of New Hampshire, February 19,

"That the Senators and Representatives in 66 MILLARD FILLNORE, the Northern Abolition- mestic slave trade, and to resist the amission Democratic party, the most important is an abiding adherence to the compromises of the BOOTH. And here it were well to note the fact Constitution, as the anchor of safety to the that Gov. Cleveland and Mr. Waldo were on Union itself-while at the same time none are the Cass electoral ticket voted for in November. more opposed than ourselves to the continuance or wider extension of slavery, and that we will in the Free-soil convention for the third Congresoppose so great an evil to the progress of civilization and humanity whenever a proper occa- 1849. We give the following extracts: sion shall arrive, and by every measure consistent with the Constitution and its compromises; and that we deem the imputations of our "H. HAMMOND, Esq. opponents on that subject too false to be worthy of regard, too frivolous to be deserving of an- ing me to answer certain questions which you swer, too inconsistent, coming, as they do, from propounded, is received, and I embrace the first men who oppose the concession of an hour's opportunity afforded me, to forward you a rerespite from labor to our own white laborers of ply." the North, to rise to a point where they may be reached by any other sentiment than contempt. For we declare it our solemn conviction, as the Democratic party have heretofore done, that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude should hereafter exist in any territory which may be acquired by or annexed to the United States, and that we approve of the votes of our delegates in Congress in favor of the Wilmot Proviso."

13 1 1

Convention.

Resolutions of Michigan-March, 1, 1847. "That in the acquisition of new territory, whether by purchase, conquest, or otherwise, we deem it the duty of the General Government to extend over the same the Ordinance of 1787, (being the one prohibiting slavery northwest of the Ohio,) with all its rights and privileges, conditions, and immunities.

These confessions of faith, it must be conceded, are not quite in union with the Southern platform which the Democracy have erected, and abundantly prove withal, that the most trusted allies sometimes become the most treacherous friends.

South to waste breath on Giddings and Palfrey. The resolutions we have quoted, will answer every purpose in alarming the people of the South. Besides they foreshadowed the very condition of things which has finally come about, and which the signal defeat of General Lewis Cass for the Presidency served to hasten, the Coalition of the Demeracy and the Abolitionists. The first fruit of this coalition was the election of SALMON P. GLASE, United States Senator, from the State of Ohio, in place of William The free-soilers had two votes in sideration osecuring certain judgeships for their faithful follwers.

The not evidence we have of this coalition, of any new State into the Union WHILE mocracy and Free-soil at the Congressional elec-TOLERATING SLAVERY." tions in Connecticut, by which the opponents of Resolution of the New Hampshire Democratic the Administration gained three members in the House of Representatives. The successful can-" Resolved, That among the doctrines of the didates of this combination were Chauncer F. CLEVELAND, LOREN P. WALDO, and WALTER The letter of the first-named gentleman was read sional district, which met at Norwich, March 13,

" HAMPTON, March 10, 1849.

" DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 8th inst., ask-

"Without my knowledge, and against my wishes, a Convention of my friends assembled at Norwich, on the 15th of February last, placed me in nomination for the office of Representative, in the next Congress of the United States for this District, and you inquire of me whether, if elected (an improbable event by the way) I will sustain that measure which proposes to exclude slavery from the Territories of New Mexico and California? Whether I will do all in my power to abolish slavery and the slave trade in the District of Columbia? And whether I am opposed to, and will continue to oppose, in all constitutional ways, the admission of any more slave States into the Union?

"To these inquiries I have to reply that, entertaining no doubt of the power of Congress to legislate upon the subject of slavery in the Territories, I am decidedly in favor of its exercise, in such a manner as will effectually prevent the introduction of slavery and its attendant evils into New Mexico and California, and into any Territory of the United States now free. That regarding the existence of slavery and the slavetrade in the District of Columbia, as a great After this, there is no longer occasion for the Democratic orators and Democratic press at the OF THEIR ABOLITION in the most easy, speedy, and practicable manner, by the action of Congress. And being uncompromisingly opposed to the extension of slavery beyond the limits within which it now exists, I could never consent to the admission of any more slave States into the Union.

" The only remaining inquiry propounded by your letter, is in the following words: 'Do you subscribe, in the main, to the principles of the Buffalo platform, as erected at the Buffalo Convention, held August 9, 1848?'

" In reply to this enquiry, I would state that I both branches of the Legislature, and yet they platform referred to, and in the main, think them compelled the Democracy to elect an avowed to be Democratic. One of those resolutions is in relation to cheap postage, &c., and another in relation to the disposition which should be made of the Public Lands. These resolutions are, in my judgment, eminently just, and truly democratthe corplete union of the joint forces of De ic. I CAN, THEREFORE, VERY CHEER-

THEY CONTAIN."

"I have thus briefly, though I believe fully answered the several inquiries which you have been pleased to propound to me. And it only remains for me to say that should I be honored with an election to the post for which I have been nominated, these views which I have expressed will be fearlessly asserted and faithfully defended."

"Very respectfully, " Your friend and servant, "C. F. CLEVELAND."

These pledges of absolute servitude to the Abolitionists secured their nomination to Ex-Gov. Cleveland, which was subsequently accepted. His letter of acceptance, of March 17, 1849, reiterates the same opinions. We have space only for the following pertinent extracts:

spirit pervading them, have my entire and hearty approbation. They are, in every sense of the word, democratic and true. And I rejoice to believe that they meet with a warm response from the honest hearts of the Democracy of Connecticut. Entertaining these views, I accept the nomination which the friends of Free-soil in this Congressional district have so generously tendered me.

"I am happy to know that these sentiments opposition to slavery and the slavetrade in the District of Columbia, and to its further extension] pervade the masses of the Democracy of the North and the great West, and that through its vital principles of progression, and its thorough identification with the spirit of the age, the Democratic party, in those vast sections of country, is fast unshackling itself from all connexion with slavery, and becoming truly free."

" My position as the candidate of the Democratic Convention, holden at Norwich, on the 15th ultimo, for the same office for which your Convention selected me, led me to a very careful examination of the resolutions which you forwarded to me, and upon which I have here briefly expressed my opinions; and I was happy to find that the principles embodied in those resolutions were so truly democratic that I could accept your nomination without forfeiting the generous confidence of friends who have hitherto stood by and sustained me, and for whose partiality and kindness I can never be too grateful.

"C. F. CLEVELAND.

" Messrs, E. Perkins and Prescott May, Secretaries, &c."

Mr. Chauncey F. Cleveland certainly marchtion household. The following is the correspon- mobbed him, and his Abolition associates.

FULLY SUBSCRIBE TO THE DOCTRINES dence between Mr. Waldo and Mr. W. H. Burleigh, the catechist of the Free Soilers. It speaks for itself:

> Mr. Burleigh's letter. " HARTFORD, March 27, 1849.

" To L. P. WALDO, Esq.

" DEAR SIR: As you are a candidate for Congress from this District, I take the liberty to address to you the following questions, soliciting your answers for publication:

"1. Do you believe that Congress has the power to exclude slavery, by legislative enactments, from the territories, and, if elected, would you give your vote and influence for such ex-

"2. Do you believe that Congress has the power to abolish slavery and the slave trade in the District of Columbia, and wherever they exist under the jurisdiction of the General Government, and, if elected, would you give your "The principles which they [the resolutions ernment, and, if elected, would you give you of the Free-soil Convention] declare, and the vote and influence in favor of such abolition?

"Respectfully yours,
"W. H. BURLEIGH."

Mr. Waldo's Reply. " Tolland, March 28, 1849.

"WM. H. BURLEIGH, Esq.

"SIR: I have just received yours of the 27th inst., soliciting for publication my answers to certain interrogatories therein stated.

"I have not time to reply to these interrogatories as I could wish, and shall only briefly say, that to your first inquiry my answer IS in the affirmative.

"To your second inquiry I would reply, that I have ALWAYS MAINTAINED that Congress had the power to regulate and abolish the institution of slavery in districts exclusively under its legislative control, and that it should exercise this power in a reasonable manner, having for its object the speedy and entire abrogation of all laws in such districts, authorizing any man to hold his fellow man in bondage.

"In whatever position I may be called to act, I shall, unless my views are materially changed, be governed by the sentiments herein expressed, and my highest ambition will be satisfied, if I may, in any manner, be instrumental in elevating the condition of suffering humanity, wherever found, or in contributing to the relief of the oppressed."

"Yours, respectfully, "LOREN P. WALDO."

The character of this Mr. Burleigh whom Mr. Waldo so graciously assures, that it will ever be his highest ambition to "contribute to the relief of the oppressed," should not be lost sight of in this connexion. In fanaticism and bitterness, he is first among the Abolitionists of Connecti-He is the editor of an Abolition journal ed up with fervent alacrity, considering he is a and not more than a year or two before this correspondence, the Democracy indignant at his the Buffalo Convention. Not a whit behind course on the Mexican War, gathered a mob cut. him, however, were Messrs. Waldo and Booth. about his premises, and threatened to destroy Each of them subscribed fully to the faith, and his office. He was fitly chosen then, as the ineach of them became duly adopted in the Aboli-strument of a coalition between the men who

At all events it satisfied the Abolition- Shaick : ists, among whom it was secretly circulated, and secured their votes.

The obligation of mutual "aid and comfort" between the high-contracting parties in Connecticut was not cancelled, however, by the result of the Congressional elections. It was in full force when the Legislature assembled the 2d of State officers devolved. cidedly Whig, but the House was in the hands of the Democracy and the Abolitionists, and the officers of that body were parcelled out share and share alike between them. And on the joint vote of the two Houses for State officers, while only one of the "Free Democracy" voted for the W hig candidates, eleven went straight-out for the candidates of their Radical allies. remainder, nine in all, either threw away their votes or did not vote at all.

Over this victory of the Coalition of the Democracy and the Abolitionists the Washington Union, maugre all its clamor for the rights of the South, rejoiced as lustily as the most ultra of the "Free Democracy." We subjoin the following specimens of its merry-making:

From the Union of April 5th, 1849.

"If the Democrats have carried three members of Congress it will serve to show that the Democracy of the Union is rallying-that they have gained ground in Connecticut as well as in New Hampshire—and that it requires only greater exertion to redeem entirely the defeat of November last. It also shows that the next House of Representatives may be redeemed."

From the Union of April 6th, 1849.

"The ultra Whig press is attempting to de-preciate the recent Democratic victory in Con-The victory, at least, seems now to be conceded. And this important result seems also to be certain: that in all great party questions WE obtain three more votes from the land of steady habits than we had before, making a difference of six votes in favor of the republican party compared with the last House of Representatives. This result will animate the Democracy of VIRGINIA and all the other States which have yet to vote."

Encouraged by this brilliant example, the Democracy of the city of New York, surrendered to the Free-soilers at the spring election. Their candidate, for the Mayoralty having declined, they immediately adopted Myndueut Van Shalck, the Free-soil candidate; and, in cen. parties, as follows: sideration of this concession, the Free-soilers refrained from nominating judicial tickets. Nothing loth, that high-mettled champion of South-ern institutions, the Washington Union, in an-the Legislature, the Democrats and Free-soilticipation of another "Democratic victory," was ers perfected a union on the basis of sound prinaming the first to invoke blessings on the mereciples, and that, in consequence thereof, but one tricious connexion. That paper, of Sunday, April 1st, 1849, prior to the union of the two nomination of Governor, &c., to be represented

The letter of Mr. Booth embodied the same divisions of its party, thus rebuked a contemporasentiments as those of Messrs. Cleveland and ry for pressing the pretensions of Mr. Van

> "The New York Evening Post seems bent on defeating the election of a Democratic Mayor, and does not hesitate to recommend Mr. Van Shaick because he has been a friend of the Freesoilers. Can this perturbed spirit of the Freesoil clique never sleep?"

On Tuesday, however, the Union volunteer-May, at Hartford, on which, in consequence of ed to act as pacificator. It then said: "Unless a failure to elect by the people, the choice of the Democrats unite their votes in favor of one State officers devolved. The Senate was de-candidate they will be defeated." Recurring to the subject on Thursday, it manifested its anxiety for the success of the coalition as follows:

From the Union of April 5, 1849.

"A correspondent in New York writes us, on Monday night, that 'If Van Shaick be nominated for Mayor to-night by the Democratic convention, (at Tammany Hall,) he will be elected; the Barnburners having PREVIOUSLY nominated him.' But the New York Courier of Tuesday, says that, 'after a strong debate, (the night before,) the hunker convention succeeded in nominating for Mayor, F. B. Cutting, Esq., as their candidate, by a vote of 29 to 23.

And the next day, it cheerly announced that "the Democrats had united their votes in favor of one candidate," and that candidate was Mr. We give its own language: Van Shaick.

From the Union of Friday, April 6, 1849. "Mr. Cutting declines the nomination, and the Convention of Tammany Hall has nominated Mr. Van Shaick as the democratic candidate. The New York True Sun speaks in high terms of his qualifications, and says all candid men admit that "his election is as nearly certain as any future event can be." We re-echo another sentiment of the True Sun; "Mr. Van Shaick's election may be considered certain, and we cannot but express the confident hope that it will result not only in a great advantage to the Pub-LIC WELFARE, but also in securing the integrity and ascendency of the Democratic party in the City and State."

The gratulations of the Union, nevertheless its coquetting and wooing with the Barnburners, were a little too hasty. The fierce Democracy of New York were too mindful of past injuries, to be sold so cheaply to "the perturbed spirit of the Free soil clique." Mr. Van Shaick was consequently defeated.

Near about the same time the Democracy and Abolitionists of Wisconsin were carnestly occupied, framing a compact of their own. The history, and the terms of it, are stated by one of the

From the " Daily Wisconsin" of April 9. "THE UNITED DEMOCRACY OF WISCONSIN .-

"It has long been perceived that the differences were a mere matter of organization. That tenacity has fortunately yielded, and now the Democrats who supported Cass and Van Buren will work together, and thus secure in Wisconsin a Democratic majority alike impregnable to the efforts and seductions of the Taylor Administration. The united majority of Cass and Van Buren over Taylor was 11,000. We can scarcely expect so large a majority hereafter, as many Whigs who acted with the Free-soil party will join the Taylor party; but we can give the largest Democratic majority of any State in the Union.

" It is pertinently suggested that the example of the Democracy of our glorious State will be found worthy of emulation in other States. have a natural pride in saying that Wisconsin is the pioneer State, where this Union has been first consummated."

The "basis of sound principles" on which the union was effected, is disclosed in the following resolutions .

" Resolved, That while we will faithfully adhere to all the compromises of the Constitution, and maintain all the reserved rights of the States, we declare, since the crisis has arrived when that question must be met, our uncompromising hostility to the extension of slavery into any Territory of the United States which is now free.

" Resolved, That in organizing governments for New Mexico and California, the introduction and existence of slavery in those Territories should be positively prohibited by act of Con-

"Resolved, That there should be no more Slave States admitted into the Federal Govern-

" Resolved, That the national laws recognizing or sustaining slavery or the slavetrade in the District of Columbia, or any other place under control of the Federal Government OUGHT TO BE IMMEDIATELY REPEALED."

The example of the Democracy of Wisconsin was "found worthy of emulation in other States."
The Democracy of Vermont made quite as full a surrender to the Abolitionists. The two parties in that State, by previous understanding doubtless, met in separate Conventions the 31st of May, at Montpelier.

The Democracy, true to their progressive doctrines, closed the sittings of their Convention, and marched off with flying colors into the Convention of the Abolitionists. The joint concern then nominated a ticket for State officers, which we will endeavor to sample out fairly .-The candidate for Governor is Horatio Needham, formerly the candidate of the Liberty party for Lieutenant Governor, of which he was for many years a distinguished supporter .-Daniel Roberts, Jr., another remnant of the human servitude, except as a punishment for Liberty Party-one of the "319" in the whole crime, in the new free territorics of the United State who voted for James G. Birney, the Abo- States."

by two delegates from each Assembly district in lition candidate for the Presidency in 1840-is the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. And Joseph Poland, who was for five years the editor of the Organ of the Liberty party in the State, is the candidate for State Treasurer. The resolutions adopted, so far as they relate to slavery, were the following:

"Resolved, That, as liberty is the clearest right and dearest interest of the individual, and its security the highest duty of the body politic, we declare, as the first point and article in this organization, that American slavery is a great evil and wrong, which ought to be repented of and abandoned.

Resolved, That we claim no authority in the Federal Government to abolish slavery in the several States, but we do claim for it constitutional power perpetually to prohibit the introduction of slavery into territory now free, and abolish it wherever, under the jurisdiction of Congress, it exists.

Resolved, That this power ought immediately to be exercised in prohibiting the introduction and existence of slavery in New Mexico and California, in abolishing slavery and the slave trade in the District of Columbia, on the high seas, and wherever else, under the Constitution, it can be reached.

Resolved, That no more slave States should be admitted into the Federal Union."

Next in the order of succession follows the Barnburners of New York city, under the auspices of Benjamin F. Butler. He proposes to unite the followers of the Buffalo Convention, the supporters of Van Buren, and the supporters of Cass throughout the State, against the Administration of President Taxlor. The programme of this proposed movement was put forth in a series of resolutions, passed June 18, 1849, by a set of individuals who call themselves the "Democratic Republican Committee of the city and county of New York." We annex such of them as are pertinent to the matter in hand .

" Resolved, That to protect this great interest, [the interest of the Free-soil party,] and to ensure, in other respects, a sound administration of public affairs, it is indispensable that there should be a reunion of the Democratic party on the great principles of human rights pro-mulgated in the Declaration of Independence, and set forth in the inaugural address of its author; and that we hail, with unmingled satisfaction, the beginnings of this reunion in the measures lately taken in Wisconsin, Vermont, and several other States.

" Resolved, That, to make the proposed union permanent and effectual, it must come spontaneously from themselves, and must be founded in a clear recognition of fundamental principles; and that paramount among these, in the present state of our national affairs, is the Jeffersonian policy, of prohibiting, after the manner of the Ordinance of July 13, 1787, the existence of

None who have watched the current of events for the last two or three months can doubt that pious Mr. Butler so devoutly prays, will be quickly consummated Indeed, preliminaries for the reunion of those discordant elements of the Demo cratic party, the Hunkers and Barnburners, the disciples of "the colored abolitionist" Frederick Douglass, the followers of Van Buren, and those of Cass and Butler, are already agreed upon. And in a few days it is presumable, promulged in due form at Albany.

That this coalition is to extend to all th free States of the Union, is too plain to be questioned. It is plain, too, that it is a coalition, which, to a certain extent, has the connivance, if not the concurrence of the Democracy of the South. Their Organ, or the paper which convention to which he owes his nomination, has assumed that character, the Washington DISGRACEFUL as that coalition is." Union, is forsomuch almost as deeply implicated in it as Joshua R. Giddings, Joshua Leavitt, or Benjamin F. Butler. We have seen its exultation at the triumph of the coalition in Connecticut, and its solicitude also for the success of Van Shaick, the Free soiler in the city of New York. We have seen it proclaim the election to Congress of men pledged to the principles of the Buffalo Convention, a "Democratic victory;" and we have seen it hail with undisguised satisfaction the nomination for a high municipal office of one who, despite of its invectives, stood by the nominees of that Con vention. Is there no hypocrisy, no double-dealing, no deception in this? Is the Union true or false to its colors? Its own conduct must determine. Let us see what it thought in times past of such coalitions. We make brief extracts from its columns a year back.

From the Union of August 17, 1848.

" This is practical Abolition, [the resolutions of the Buffalo Convention,] and its effect is obvious. It places Mr. Van Buren in the hands of the Abolitionists and of those abolitionizing Whigs who form so large a portion of the Whig party in Massachusetts and Ohio, and who are numerous also in the Whig ranks in New York. The Northern Democracy, on the other handeven the fiercest of the rank-and file of the "Barnburners" in New York-will shrink from such company."

From the Union of August 18, 1848.

"Can they [the Democrats of New York] witness the proceedings of the Buffalo Convention WITHOUT THE DEEPEST DISGUST. * bition or to satiate his revenge!"

"The Democrats of the State of New York have every motive that can animate high-minded men and indomitable Republicans, to cust out THESE FACTIOUS BARNBURNERS who would sacrified the Union to their passions .-These men are worse than Whigs."

From the Union of August 19, 1848.

THE BUFFALO CONVENTION .- The more we this "reunion of the Democratic party on the hear of their actions from those who witnessed great principles of human rights," for which the them, the more we see of their speeches and resolutions, the more we are DISGUSTED with their proceedings. Their resolutions are ultra-abolitionism."

From the Union of August 20, 1848.

"Both parties are deservedly indignant at the movement, [the Buffalo resolutions.] because it is calculated to build up a new "northern party" on the most mischievous of all distincthat the treaty of alliance between them will be tions in a confederacy of States—sectional promulged in due form at Albany.

feelings and geographical interests."

From the Union of August 24, 1848.

"But there is one feature in the disgusting pirouettes of this man. [Martin Van Buren] which marks his character. We do not speak of the motley and monstrous character of the

" It is his appealing to sectional feelings, to geographical lines, to build up a northern party-of all others the most fatal to the union of these States-warned as he was by Washington, and pledged by his own solemn declara-tions—if Martin Van Buren could be bound by any solemn declarations."

"In the mean time, we repeat what we have before asserted, that the Barnburners stand upon immeasurably worse ground than the Whigs, because of their placing themselves upon a sectional party, so threatening to the Union of our country."

Such were the anathemas of the Union against the Free-soilers in 1848. Where are those anathemas now! Is it possible that he who could not speak of the Buffalo Convention "without the deepest disgust," who denounced its followers as "desperate and selfish factionists," who proclaimed its resolutions "ultraabolitionism," who appealed to the Republicans of New York "to cast out the factious Barnburners" whom he derided as "worse than Whigs"-is it possible that he has no voice of warning for the South? Is not the union of the Democracy and the Abolitionists in New York, Ohio, Connecticut, Vermont, and Wisconsin, soon to be perfected every where, "a disgraceful coalition?" Are not the resolutions of their Conventions as pregnant with "practical abolition" as those which were passed at Buffalo? Are not they, too, "building up a Northern party," are they not creating "the most mischievous of all distinctions in a confederacy of And Mr. Van Buren sinks into the champion of States-sectional feelings and geographical in-SUCH A DISGUSTING COALITION, to gratify his am- terests " Why, then, is the Union less indignant now than in 1848? Is it the tempting prospect of the spoils of office, which it expects the Democracy to enjoy four years hence by the overthrow of Gen. TAYLOR's Administration, through the instrumentality of this "disgusting coalition," that thus ties its tongue and hushes its speech?

the Union has no longer any feeling of disgust Charleston Mercury" of March 27th, 1847? towards these proceedings. Almost contempora- Does it belong to him to declare, "from first to neous with the consummation of these several last we have rejected and condemned the doctrine to bring into his establishment an associate edi and condemned" the Democratic Abolitionists of tor "from the North or Northwest." Here is New York, Ohio, Wisconsin, Connecticut and the announcement to which we allude :

From the Union of April 17, 1849.

"We owe every thing to our principles and our party, and we are making arrangements to infuse such further talent and energy into OUR PAPER AS THE OCCASION OBVIOUSLY REQUIRES. We have great confidence in our cause, as well as in ourselves; great confidence in the associate whom we shall attempt to bring into our establishment from the North or Northwest : and we trust we are not mistaken when we add, great confidence in the Republican party. We shall stand by them; and we appeal to them to stand by us."

A month later the mystery was unveiled, and the associate turned up in the person of EDMURD BURKE, the Ex-Commissioner of Patents. who, pray, is Mr. Burke? We only answer, whatever he may be, he is a slavery restrictionist, a Wilmot provisoist. Here is the proof. When the bill "to organize a territorial government in the Territory of Oregon, and for other purposes," was under consideration in the House of Representatives, Monday, February 3, 1845,

" Provided, however, That there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said Territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."-Globe, 2d sess. 28th, Cong p. 236.

For this amendment, EDMUND BURKE, then a member of Congress from New Hampshire, voted; and this vote, according to Mr. Ritchie, makes him before all the world, an enemy of the South, a sympathiser with a party of geographi cal divisions and sectional interests! But this is not all. Somewhere about the year 1837 or '38, he edited a paper, at Newport, New only guaranty of a well regulated government; Hampshire, called the "Argus and Spectator," liberal, just, and benificent in its aims, is and and through its columns propagated appeals to "Democratic Abolitionists." He found no fault the flag of the Constitution, not Whigs alone, ware and not get entrapped in the toils of Feder all the ire, and excited the "deepest disgust" in which the people feel so profound an interest. Mr. Ritchie! How dares he to denounce Norththe South? With what face can he reaffirm the tize him as a "butcher," but they can neither

There are still other grounds for believing that sentiments proclaimed in his "Reply to the Vermont, has he cast out Edmund Burke with his Wilmot proviso doctrines! Now, we do not mean to charge the Southern editor of the Union with changing his opinions on the question of slavery, but we do charge him with suppressing those he is known to entertain, with condemning himself to silence, and again with rejoicing and exulting, while "unhallowed combinations and "disgraceful coalitions" are going on between the Democracy and the Abolitionists, for the benefit and advantage of the Democratic family. This is our charge, and this much we think we have proved.

The cement of this Coalition, undeniably, is opposition to the Administration of General TAYLOR, to embarrass and finally to break down which, is the highest ambition of these despicable factionists A great Northern Party, embracing every creed and every opinion, a party of geographical divisions and sectional feuds is to be the consummation of their "bargain, intrigue, and corruption." Against them, their plots and machinations, the Whigs of the North and the Whigs of the South, discarding all differences of opinion as to slavery, have rallied a National Party. the following amendment was proposed to the This party, republican in principle and national in its objects, they invite all who desire the peace, prosperity, and glory of a people, undivided and indivisible, to unite with. They invite all the patriotic and conservative to unite with them; because it is this party which is to preserve the Constitution inviolate alike from the assaults of Northern fanatics and Southern disunionists; because it is this party which is to maintain the peace of the country, and, finally, because it is this party which is to secure wholesome laws, and protect the rights of all classes in the Republic.

This party holding to these principles as the then, with those wayward disciples of Democra but Independent Democrats, in every section of cy, for "dissenting from slavery, and desiring the country, it battled against the usurpations and its removal." He only cautioned them "to be corruptions of a reckless Administration, and corruptions of a reckless Administration, and carried Zachary Taylor triumphantly into the alism." Now he maligns Gen. Taxlor for hav- Presidency. And now that he is pursued by a ing called Mr. Dwing and Judge Collamer into his factions minority, now that the Democracy and cabinet. What a fit associate for the guardian the Abolitionists have coalesced with a view to of Southern rights, is a slavery restrictionist, and defeat his administrative policy, this party adthe friend of "Democratic Abolitionists!" What heres the more firmly to his fortunes. It will is this, we would inquire, but one of those "un-stand by, and sustain, and cheer him on in perhallowed combinations" which formerly aroused fecting the work of purification and reform, in

His enemies may assail him as an "imbecile, ern Whigs as Abolitionists, how dares he to up ignorant tyrant," may liken him to "Nero," the braid Southern Whigs with lack of fidelity to most infamous of Roman Emperors, and stigmashake his unconquerable will, nor impair the | not expect, therefore, to witness a lack of hissconfidence of his friends in his honesty of pur- ing and venom when the hero of Palo Alto, Repose, nor yet in his ability and determination to saca, Monterey, and Buena Vista, came by their restore the Government to what it was in the authority to put down the spoilsmen and corrupdays of the earlier Presidents. A corrupt Press, tionists whom power had made insolent and reck-under the lead of the Washington Union, may less. Let these libellers rail on, then, without charge him again and again with a "violation stint; they have no power to injure. The Peoof solemn pledges," may characterize him as a ple, in very loathing and disgust of the vile coa-"whitened sepulchre," and proclaim it far and lition to which they pander, will rally around wide that the President of the People is "dis- the Administration, and bear it successfully gracing himself," but even this vituperation will through its trials, in proud defiance of its malifail to break the force and power of his name cious and revengeful assailants. with the warm hearted, incorruptible masses.

They know too well how to count the value of such filthy outpourings from these political sewers, to be disturbed thereby. They remember that Washington values of the Washington Union, once thought of Gen. Jackson, whose most obsequious flatterer he subsequently became, and also Gen. Jackson's estimated by the sequently became, and also Gen. Jackson's estimated by the sequently became, and also Gen. Jackson's estimated by the sequently became, and also Gen. Jackson's estimated by the sequently became, and also Gen. Jackson's estimated by the sequently became, and also Gen. one of the purest men of his or any other age, sequently became, as was exposed to similar abuse because he was firm and exact in the discharge of his Executive duties. They know every act of his Administration was censured, and he himself, "Father of the election of such a man as Andrew Jackson." his Country." as he was, decried as a monarch its, and denounced as guilty of incivism, and as upon our country." the patron of kingly forms and ceremonies. They know that JEFFERSON, the great Apostle of the whole country into one great camp, and Democracy, was made the victim of innumerable would reduce almost everything under martial libels, and his measures ridiculed in the pasqui- law," nades of Bryant, the editor of the New York Evening Post, now a prominent character in coalition against Gen. TAYLOR's Administration. They know that James Buchanan, after charging Madison with "involving the country in a disgraceful war, from which it was extricated by a more disgraceful peace," was stopped for sheer want of time only, on a certain memorable occasion, from recounting all "the other blunders of that Democratic Administration." They know too, that Thomas Ritchie, once of the Richmond Enquirer, now of the Washington Union, vas foremost among those who let loose the vials of wrath on JACKSON, when, in obedience to the voice of his countrymen, he first stood a candidate for the Presidency. know that the same Ritchie, who derides Gen. Taxlon, as men of proper self-respect would scarce deride a clown, and daily charges him with surrendering his high trust to "an irresponsible cabal," scoffed at Gen. Jackson in terms no less vulgar, succred at his qualifica tions for the Presidential office, and "deprecated his election as a curse upon our country.". Yes, the people know that Washington, the hero of the Revolu ion-Jefferson, who draughted the Declaration of Independence-Madison, who carried the country safely and brilliantly through the war of 1812-and Jackson, who won for himself, in that war, the title of the "hero think that in some unguarded moment I had of New Orleans," each and all of them committed some great moral impropriety." felt the sting of political vipers. They could

* It is deemed appropriate to republish here,

From the Richmond Enquirer of 1824. " We cannot consent to lend a hand toward

" We would deprecate his election as a curse

"One who, in any great crisis, would convert

"Compare him with Adams and Crawford, and how inferior must he be.'

"We can commend General Jackson's modesty in retiring from the Senate and the bench, where he discovered the superior qualifications of other people. Can we say as much for his modesty when he is now aspiring to the highest office in this nation?"

" He is too little of a statesman, too rash, too violent in his temper, his measures too much inclined to arbitrary government, to obtain the humble support of the editor of this paper."

"What kind of a President would this great civilian make? A gentleman who cannot interpret the plain expression of one law; and yet would be called upon to administer all the laws of the land! One whose ideas are so purely military, that he would transmute a traitor into a spy, or would punish treason, not by the civil courts, but by a courtmartial."

General Jackson's estimate of Thomas Ritchie. "I have often heard him (Jackson) use these emphatic words: 'RITCHIE IS THE GREAT-EST SCOUNDREL IN AMERICA!

In another of these letters, Gen. Jackson is stated to have said: "I see that I am attacked in Congress by Cooke, Whitman, and Williams, aided by that infamous press, the Richmond Enquirer. If such a corrupt press as the Richmond Enquirer were to approbate my conduct, I should

[Breckenridge's letters.

